1

The driver's third eye: CAS-M3

The CAS-M3 enables race car drivers to detect dangers and opponents in their respective vehicle class in time, and to react accordingly.

2

Individually adjusted: ABS M5

The ABS M5 offers the race car driver the possibility to individually regulate the system and flexibly adapt it in line with the current racing conditions.

3

Electrically cooled: ECP 160

The ECP 160 is no longer dependent on the engine's mechanics. Thanks to its electric activation, the pump allows need-based cooling depending on the respective driving situation and/or temperature peaks.
